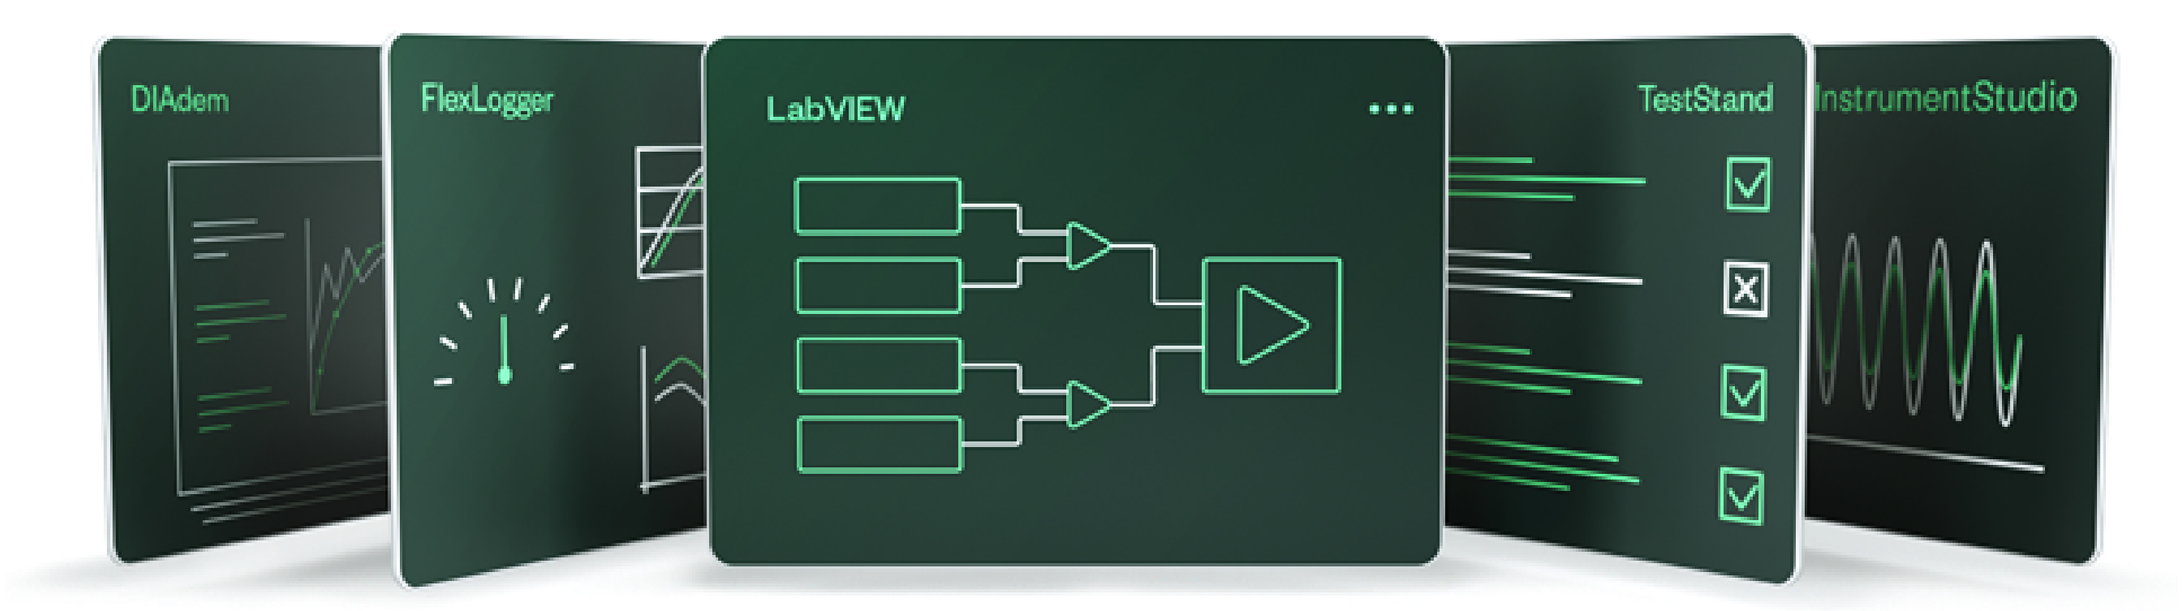
LabVIEW Permanent License Renewal Campaign Extended!



LabVIEW licenses , are now available for purchase as perpetual licenses.

Previously, they were offered as perpetual licenses, but since the transition to a subscription format, many of you have asked us to offer perpetual licenses again. In response to your requests, we are now offering licenses . We hope you will take this opportunity to consider purchasing a perpetual LabVIEW license.
Due to popular demand, the LabVIEW Perpetual License Renewal Campaign has been extended!

The new end date is March 31, 2026.

Please consider updating to the latest NI 802.11 environment.
The latest version further enhances development efficiency with improved performance, new features, a new UI, and the addition of the NI Nigel AI Advisor.
Also, support for Windows 10 ended on October 14, 2025. NI 802.11 will be supported from NI 802.11 onwards. If you are using an older version, please consider migrating to the new environment.
Perpetual licenses can also be purchased through us.
Trinergy's also provides support for LabVIEW development and LabVIEW migration to Windows 11.

LabVIEW License Types

Perpetual License

This is recommended for those who do not need to change versions of equipment, do not need to submit annual budget requests, and want to pay in one lump sum.
If you purchase during the campaign period, you can get a discount.
With the NI Standard Service Program (SSP), you can upgrade to new NI LabVIEW releases during the support period.

Subscription

This is recommended for those who frequently upgrade to the latest version, those who are concerned about implementation costs, those whose development environments change frequently, and those who want.
